JAEDEN MATHEWS

North to Alaska by Oar Trafford Publishing
 This inspirational collection of poems offers insight into the changing seasons of the author's diverse life in Israel and the United States.

Dancing Past the Graveyard Llewellyn Worldwide

The works of art gathered by Spaniards Juan Abello and Anna Gamazon since the 1980s constitute one of the most important private collections in the world. Fascinated by history and art, the couple has built a collection whose marked personality is based on the beauty and quality of its pieces. It is a broad collection, with works created by both Spanish and international artists over a period of five hundred years from the fifteenth to the twentieth centuries. By concentrating particularly on artists underrepresented in Spain's public and private collections, the Abello family has both pioneered the appreciation of foreign artists and contributed to a notable recovery of their own country's artistic heritage. Published to accompany an exhibiton at the Meadows Museum, Dallas, TX, until August 2015."

Technologies will have a huge impact on society in the coming years and will bring new challenges and legal challenges to the legal sector worldwide. On the other hand, the new communications era also brings many new legal issues, such as those derived from e-commerce and payment services, intellectual property, or the problems derived from the use of new technologies by young people.

 International comics sensation and opera star Too Much Coffee Man returns to the printed page! Collecting acclaimed cartoonist Shannon Wheeler's musings on modern life, "Cutie Island" brings together Too Much Coffee Man and a host of other characters into one neuroses-packed volume! A new cartoon collection from the mind of Eisner Award-winning, Harvey-nominated, and current "New Yorker" cartoonist, Shannon Wheeler! Too Much Coffee Man, the long-underwear-clad hero, returns to the printed page in his first new adventures since having his life remade in opera form. Wheeler remains one of the best satirists of a generation, lending a hilariously cynical eye to Too Much Coffee Man's struggle to make sense of the ever-changing modern world--with a space-octopus thrown in for good measure, of course.

My Guardian Grandpa Red Feather
 The fourth book in the series 3, Mimi and Jonathan struggle to redefine themselves. The ugly has left scars and shattered hearts along with questions and uncertainty. Cameron has made promises to find answers and he will not give up easily. Jonathan trusts his brother with not only his own life, but with the lives of the ones he loves the most. It's a long and hard journey they face, but in the end, it is one that has to be made. Destiny and Jonathan find a love within themselves that they never acknowledged in the way that was destined. The twists and turns in this roller coaster ride only get faster and sharper as the ride continues to carry it's readers into an undiscovered realm.

Poltergeists, Parasites, Parallel Worlds, and God Ediciones El Viso

Join Paul Eno, cohost of the popular radio show Behind the Paranormal, as he examines his most controversial cases. From battles with demons to people trapped in parallel worlds, get ready to have your existence rocked as you learn about multiverse, ghosts from elsewhere, and "neighbors" who don't yet have names. Eno, one of the world's first and most experienced supernatural adventurers, puts forth theories that are shaking the paranormal world to its core. What do these cases say about our understanding of God and our own place in the universe? Do we really understand who (or what) we are? You'll never look at your existence the same way again.

The House of Wonder

A book for babies and their parents about the whole new world that they both encounter when the baby arrives. When the new baby arrives, both the baby and the parents are in for a steep learning curve. In this book, born out of personal experience, internationally renowned author/illustrator Isol brings us a dual narrative and guide. For babies, there's a rich range of images of babies and all their functions to look at. From crying, to nursing, to peeing and pooing, to looking, to hearing, to deciding that this weird new world they've entered is worth staying in (because they finally recognize that in every grown-up they see a former baby), there are hours of fun and amusement, since babies love nothing better than looking at and talking about themselves. = For parents, this is a wonderful exploration of the new world this stranger-baby brings with them. Amusingly written, the text presents in a humorous, wry way all the facets of the new baby's reality. A great gift for new parents both before and after baby is born.

A Modern Taste for European Masters

Madeira Park, BC : Harbour Publ.

When a man returns to Earth to serve as guardian angel to a lonely 16-year-old girl, there's just one problem. She's his granddaughter. If you think your high school experience was tough, try going through it with a paranoid chaperon! My Guardian Grandpa is a charming and hilarious coming-of-age story that chronicles the simultaneous education of young and old and the lessons that we can learn from each other.

The Smoke-free Workplace
Stephen Gee explores the truly groundbreaking work of a long forgotten genius and pioneer of the Los Angeles skyline, John Parkinson. Credited with designing the city's most iconic structures - City Hall and Union Station, among others - Parkinson was a true revolutionary and helped to conceive the first skyscrapers in LA. This is the first full length book dedicated to his work, filled with stunning visuals and fascinating facts.
Real Estate Valuation Guide
Betty Lowman was 22 years old in June 1937 when she climbed into her beloved red dugout canoe Bijaboji and set out on a journey from Puget Sound to Alaska. Traversing some of the most treacherous waters on earth, the journey would have been a risky act for an extreme adventurer in any era; for a young woman in the conservative 1930s, it was a venture of almost unimaginable daring. Betty pulled it off, and now, 67 years later, she accomplishes an equal feat--a book of pure adventure. Bijaboji is a classic of boating literature worthy of a place beside The Curve of Time by Muriel Wylie Blanchet, whose coastal narrative dates from the same period. Betty slips through quiet water by moonlight, her oars dripping with phosphorescence. She goes deer hunting with a young Native man near Sechelt. She travels with a boat full of exuberant Boy Scouts for a few days and she visits lightkeepers, loggers, fishermen, doctors, missionaries and other coast dwellers who live in beautiful, isolated places and who speak openly about their lives, loves and politics. She also braves storms, rapids and blistering heat. In Douglas Channel Bijaboji capsizes and Betty loses her oars and everything she owns, except her boat and her sleeping bag. She is trapped on a precarious rock ledge for three harrowing days until rescued by Native fishermen. Through it all, she copes with her growing celebrity as people all along the coast watch for her, at the same time as they wait for news on the abdication of Edward VIII and on the disappearance of another female adventurer, Amelia Earhart. This is an amazing account written by a smart, strong, funny, independent woman with a glad heart and an abiding love of the BC coast.
