 "In The Age of Magic,
 Anything is Possible."
 What would the Age of

Magic be without the Arabian
 Nights?
 Aladdin and his magic lamp; Ali Baba and the 40
 thieves;

genies and djinns and ifrits, oh my! Flying carpets, desert palm trees, and harems filled with voluptuous women. That Moorish architecture, and oh the clothes: turbans, fezzes, and curled pointy shoes. Belly dancers, and the Dance of the Seven Veils. The bazaar and the café. The magical city of Baghdad, with its spires, keyhole arches, and minarets glittering more brightly than the Emerald City of Oz. And then there's vampire Sharon Mordecai, a prominent character in every Halos & Horns novel since the first book but noticeably absent in the previous installment, the ninth book in the series. Where was Sharon? All we were told was that she was on a case with her spectral private investigator partner Kara Islington. Readers got a clue at the very end of the previous book when Ursula Fenris, teenage daughter of Sharon's BFF Pandora, was polishing an oil lamp she had been given by the mysterious proprietor of an even more mysterious curio shop. Kara's ghostly form wafted from the lamp's spout with the dire message that she and Sharon had been captured by a djinn. But how on Earth did they end up in such a predicament?  My plan was perfect... My friend needed a date. And my brother's best friend was single. Problem solved. Until I saw Jaeger for the first time in years, and sparks flew in the wrong direction. Jaeger has grown up and bulked up. But that shouldn't matter, because I have the perfect life. Really. Only my plans are beginning to unravel and now visions of Jaeger's hard abs, broad shoulders, and intense green eyes fill my head. I should hold back in case my friend is interested. Or in case of a million other reasons. But if Jaeger isn't willing to play by the rules, I don't think I can either. ----

my dead

grandmother wants me to complete stupid missions for her, and a witch thinks I'm an arrogant and rude dragon, so she turns me human. Then I get captured by guards from a kingdom notorious for being cruel to males, and they make me their slave for three years. Their queen decides she's had enough of my sarcastic idiocy and sells me to a neighboring kingdom where I get stuck in a new dungeon: kingdom. Apparently I make enemies wherever I go. I have dragon slayers poaching in my kingdom and my army's commander desperately wanting to kill me so he could be king. All I want is to find a way to break my curse and get my scales back . . . and for my father to stop treating me like a hatchling. Is that too much to ask for?

Woman's Best

Friend Library of Alexandria Who is your BFF? There is a special breed of men out there who love and care for children that are not biologically their own. These men have no hidden agenda to gain notoriety or self-recognition; but their entire purpose and premise for life is to help young men and women reach their potential. You don't always get it right, you won't always do things the right way, but one thing remains constant: the intention of your heart. So, I challenge you to open the pages of this book and let your past sorrows gain resolutions and your future dreams and visions gain clarity and wings as you sprout into the man whom young children need in their lives.

Guarded by Her Dad's Best Friend Hardie Grant Books He crushed her heart in high school. Now he's back for a second chance. At sixteen, Grace Fisher made a vow—she'd never to speak to her best friend's brother again. It was a reasonable response to the heart-crushing humiliation Zach Hunter dealt her in high school. She's kept her word for more than a decade, but is her vow about to be broken? The Hunters are like Grace's second family. When she's invited to join their Olympic-style family reunion event, she can't wait to bring home the win—until she learns Zach is making a surprise visit home. Suddenly, the stakes are much higher than a tarnished second-hand trophy because she's determined to never lose her heart to Zach again. As the go-to stuntman for Hollywood's A-list actors, Zach Hunter knows all about risk. But risking his heart for the all-grown-up Grace Fisher isn't part of his plan. He's home to heal from an injury and get straight back to his career. Besides, it's obvious Grace has never forgiven him for the boneheaded stunt he pulled back in high school. But the more time they spend together, the less Zach wants to fight his desire to be near Grace. Can he convince her that the only stunts he pulls now are for the big screen—or is it too late to earn her

Henry Deeping and Kate Meacham seem to clash every time they meet. Kate is frustrated by the change in her status following the death of her grandfather, a legendary figure in diplomatic circles. As a lone single woman, she is now effectively nobody, even though she knows everyone and has made important contributions to diplomacy in the past. Henry, just joining the Foreign Office, is wondering how to make his mark. They agree to an exchange—Henry will serve as Kate's escort to important events to which she is no longer invited, and Kate will introduce him to the important people she knows so well. THE RETURN OF THE PRAIRIE ROSE Sourcebooks, Inc. Olivia Lincoln has a plan guaranteed to get her life back on track. A plan that involves her best friend, Danny. And he's on board, too...until she blurts out that they're engaged and expecting a baby, and the news spreads like wildfire. The problem? Danny doesn't do marriage. Or family. And everyone knows it, including Olivia. As irritated as he might be, protecting Olivia is what Danny does. But put best friends under one roof, add house rules begging to be broken, accidental nakedness, and pancakes in bed, and what started as a marriage between friends threatens to turn into the real deal...which would ruin everything.  Sometimes, I wish I weren't a Hawke...especially because I'm in love with one. Years of living on the streets taught me one hard lesson... Don't trust anyone. People are inherently bad and will do bad things any chance they get. So, when the Hawkes took me under their wings... I put up walls so high that no one could ever climb over them. Most stopped trying. It was the way I liked it. Locked away in my own little world. Protected from anything that could hurt me. But the very person I try so hard to keep out is the only one I want to let in. I dream about her touch. Crave her in a way I have no right to. She's my best friend's older sister. No matter what...I have to keep my hands off Angelina... Because she's a Hawke.
