This volume examines interactions between second/foreign language acquisition and the development of cognitive abilities in learners who acquire an additional language in preschools, primary or secondary schools. The chapters explore possible links between cognitive and linguistic skills displayed by multilingual learners. This book should appeal to different kinds of readers such as linguists, psychologists and language teachers.

Lisa is 4 years and 5 months old and Giulia 3 years and 4 months. One morning, the girls' father is taking them to nursery school. L: ... e bravissima, ha riscaldato l'auto. E' bravissima, vera? In praising the sun for having warmed up the car, Lisa has referred to it in the feminine gender, as in the German die Sonne. Her father corrects her by using the masculine gender. F: E' bravissimo. E' if sale. L: E' un maschietto, if sale? (Is the sun a little boy?) F: E'maschife. (It's masculine.) G [determined]: E' una femmina! (No, it's a girl!) F: Forse in tedesco. (Perhaps it is in German.) is left disoriented, speechless. Giulia This book is devoted to language acquisition in children who have been exposed to two languages since birth. It has often been said that the study of simultaneous bilingualism is the "most fertile ground" for the formulation of general theories on language acquisition processes, and indeed, most of the studies on early bilingualism aim in this direction. But in a sense this book serves the reverse purpose. Using the results of psycholinguistic research as a basis, I have sought to understand the peculiarities of the process of language organization in the child who faces the problem of learning two languages when other children are learning only one. Thus, the recurring theme of my study is the diversity of bilingual as opposed to monolingual acquisition.

Errors are information. In contrastive linguistics, they are thought to be caused by unconscious transfer of mother tongue structures to the system of the target language and give information about both systems. In the interlanguage hypothesis of second language acquisition, errors are indicative of the different intermediate learning levels and are useful pedagogical feedback. In both cases error analysis is an essential methodological tool for diagnosis and evaluation of the language acquisition process. Errors, too, give information in psychoanalysis (e.g., the Freudian slip), in language universal research, and in other fields of linguistics, such as linguistic change. This bibliography is intended to stimulate study into cross-language, cross-discipline and cross-theoretical, as well as for language universal, use of the numerous, but sometimes hard to come by, error analysis studies. 5398 titles covering the period 1578 up to 1990 (with work in more than 144 languages and language families) are cited, cross-referenced, and described. The subject areas covered are numerous. For example: Theoretical Linguistics (Linguistic Typology, Cognitive Linguistics), Historical Linguistics (Language Change), Applied Linguistics (e.g. Speech Disorders), Translation, Mother Tongue Acquisition, Foreign Language Learning (Negative Transfer, Intralingual and Interlingual Errors), Psychoanalysis (Slips of the Tongue), Typography, Shorthand, Clinical Linguistics and Speech Pathology, Reading Research, Automatic Error Detection, Contact Linguistics (Code-switching, Interference), etc.

Social Justice Pedagogies provides a diverse and wide perspective into making education more robust and useful in light of global injustices and new challenges posed by new media and communication practices, media manipulation, right-wing populism, climate crisis, and intersectional discriminations. Meant to inspire readers to see learning and teaching from a wider perspective of justice, inclusion, equity, and creativity, it argues that relational and mindful approaches to teaching and learning in specific contexts, settings, and place-based experiences are essential in how we determine the value of education. The book draws on contributions from scholars and experts who incorporate social justice into their teaching practices in different disciplines in universities across Canada, the US, and Europe. Social Justice Pedagogies uniquely presents a wide interdisciplinary perspective on social justice in education practices in order to speak to the ways in which we all want to make our research, our classrooms, and our institutions more just. It argues that pedagogy, and specifically teaching and learning, constitutes a process of building relationships between people and knowledge by fostering a learning community.

The Limits to Growth Elsevier Publishing Company

This volume offers a wide array of cutting-edge original research on the implementation of Foreign Language Pedagogy in translator and interpreter training, a still rather unexplored field of research in Translation Studies. It is divided in two distinct sections. The first section focuses on theoretical approaches to this topic. The chapters of this section will offer the reader valuable new knowledge and thoughts on how to update and enrich academic curricula as well as how to make use of cognitive linguistics and to implement a multicultural approach in the demanding domain of translator and interpreter training. The second practical section comprises a series of diverse methods and didactical means of Foreign Language Pedagogy which are creatively adapted to fit in language and translation/interpreting teaching for translation/interpreting trainees, aiming at fostering their translational sub-competences. The volume's overarching aim is to clearly emphasise that foreign language teaching for translation and interpreting trainees has to be approached and structured differently than conventional language teaching in other academic disciplines. It is useful for scholars and translation/interpreting teachers who want to enrich translator/interpreter training with new interdisciplinary ideas and knowledge which will significantly assist them in enhancing the translation/interpreting competence of their students.

Between the publication of Kant's Critique of Pure Reason in 1781 and Husserl's Ideas in 1913, the nineteenth century is a pivotal period in the philosophy of mind, witnessing the emergence of the phenomenological and analytical traditions which continue to shape philosophical debate in fundamental ways. The nineteenth century also challenged many prevailing assumptions about the transparency of the mind, particularly in the ideas of Nietzsche and Freud, whilst at the same time witnessing the birth of modern psychology in the work of William James. Covering the main figures of German idealism to the birth of the phenomenological movement under Brentano and Husserl, Philosophy of Mind in the Nineteenth Century provides an outstanding survey to these new directions in philosophy of mind. Following an introduction by Sandra Lapointe, fourteen specially commissioned chapters by an international team of contributors discuss key topics, thinkers and debates, including: German idealism Bolzano Johann Friedrich Herbart Ernst Mach Helmholtz Nietzsche William James Sigmund Freud Brentano's early philosophy of mind Meinong Christian von Ehrenfels Husserl Natorp. Essential reading for students and researchers in philosophy of mind, continental philosophy, and the history of philosophy, Philosophy of Mind in the Nineteenth Century is also a valuable resource for those in related disciplines such as Psychology, Religion, and Literature.

Eugenio Coseriu University of Toronto Press

The volume is published on the occasion of the birth centennial of Eugenio Coseriu (1921–2002). It is the first collective volume to appear in English in which various scholars present a variety of perspectives on Coseriu's scholarly work and discuss its continuing relevance for the language sciences. Coseriu's international reputation has suffered from his commitment to publish in languages such as Spanish, German, French, Italian, Romanian and Portuguese, to the detriment of English. As a consequence, his work is less well-known outside Romance and German linguistics. The volume aims to raise the general awareness of Coseriu's work among linguists around the world, in accordance with Coseriu's own adage that it takes a constructive mindset (acknowledging "accomplishments and limitations") to do justice to all scholarly work in the humanities. The articles are organized into three major thematic clusters: 1) philosophy of language, 2) history of the language sciences and 3) theory and practice of "Integral Linguistics". The volume is essential reading for anyone working in these fields and for those seeking to gain deeper understanding of Coseriu's goal to develop a unitary approach to language which takes as its point of departure the "activity of speaking".

Kant: Religion Within the Boundaries of Mere Reason Walter de Gruyter GmbH & Co KG

Werbung ist als kaum mehr überschaubares Forschungsfeld von Kommunikationswissenschaft und Linguistik nur «scheinbar» ausgereizt. Aufgrund der immer stärkeren Präsenz von Marketing- und Promotionsstrategien, der Zunahme der Wirtschaftskommunikation in allen gesellschaftlichen Sektoren quer über den Globus, der technologisch und medial bedingten Differenzierung in immer wieder neue Formen, Typen und Textsorten sowie der Aufwendung der verschiedensten Codes und Stilmittel kann diese lifestyle-geprägte «Kunst des Alltags» nie genug untersucht werden. In diesem Band, dessen Beiträge zu einem Großteil einer Sektion der Jahrestagung der «Gesellschaft für Angewandte Linguistik» (GAL), September 2006, entstammen, geht es im Kern um das sogenannte global advertising, das heißt um die Anlage und Durchführung kulturübergreifender Werbetextualität. Die stets vergleichenden Analysen nehmen die verschiedensten Botschaften und ihre multimodalen Gestaltungsstrategien im Spannungsfeld zwischen Globalisierung und Kulturspezifität kritisch unter die Lupe. Dabei sind die Zugänge sowohl linguistischer und semiotischer als auch soziologischer und ökonomischer Natur. Zentrales Anliegen aller Beiträge ist die Betonung einer interdisziplinären Ausrichtung sowie eine kritische Revision der Untersuchungsmethoden und ihrer Erkenntnisziele.

The founder and executive chairman of the World Economic Forum on how the impending technological revolution will change our lives We are on the brink of the Fourth Industrial Revolution. And this one will be unlike any other in human history. Characterized by new technologies fusing the physical, digital and biological worlds, the Fourth Industrial Revolution will impact all disciplines, economies and industries - and it will do so at an unprecedented rate. World Economic Forum data predicts that by 2025 we will see: commercial use of nanomaterials 200 times stronger than steel and a million times thinner than human hair; the first transplant of a 3D-printed liver; 10% of all cars on US roads being driverless; and much more besides. In The Fourth Industrial Revolution, Schwab outlines the key technologies driving this revolution, discusses the major impacts on governments, businesses, civil society and individuals, and offers bold ideas for what can be done to shape a better future for all.

Philosophy of Mind in the Nineteenth Century IGI Global

In gegenwärtigen Debatten rückt das Thema Grenze, aber auch Grenzüberwindung durch Brücken, in den Mittelpunkt des öffentlichen Interesses. Zwischen einer Vernetzung durch Medien, Deterritorialisierung und Abschottungspolitik findet eine Diskussion über das Globale im Gegensatz zum Lokalen statt, über Chancen und Grenzen einer (neuen) Weltoffenheit – Aspekte, die durch die Corona-Pandemie umso mehr offenbart werden. Gerade für die Romania sind Themen, die sich mit Grenzen und Brücken beschäftigen, relevant: Ihr Gebiet verteilt sich auf unterschiedliche Sprachen, Diskursgemeinschaften und Geographien, die auf vielfältige Weise vernetzt sind. Der vorliegende Band nähert sich diesem Thema interdisziplinär: Es geht dabei um Fragestellungen zum spatial turn, um diskursive Abgrenzungen, um Aspekte der Mehrsprachigkeit, um mediale Brücken sowie um subjektorientierte Perspektiven auf Grenzen. Dans les débats actuels, les thèmes de la frontière et du pont, c'est-à-dire du passage des frontières, retiennent souvent l'intérêt public. Entre une mise en réseau à travers les médias, une déterritorialisation et une politique isolationniste, une discussion émerge sur la globalité versus la localité, sur les opportunités et les limites d'une (nouvelle) ouverture sur le monde – des aspects qui se manifestent encore plus par la pandémie du coronavirus. Pour les pays de langues romanes, les thèmes autour des frontières et des ponts sont particulièrement pertinents : en effet, leurs territoires se répartissent sur différentes langues et communautés discursives, et sur des géographies aux interconnexions multiples. Ce volume a une approche interdisciplinaire du sujet : il traite de questions autour du spatial turn, de délimitations discursives, d'aspects du multi- et du plurilinguisme, de ponts médiaux et de perspectives subjectives concernant les frontières.

Learner Language and Control Routledge

This book presents four closely related reports on the lay-out, data collection and results of a research project on the acquisition of German as a Foreign Language by adult students. A critical description is given of the course of the extensive data collection and the successes and difficulties encountered. This is followed by a theoretical paper in which a model of the production process in second language performance is postulated and discussed. Sections three and four describe analyses of spontaneous self-corrections as evidence of the learner's control of his speech process, which takes into account the influence of individual and linguistic variables.

Trotz vieler Bemühungen um Kompetenz-, Aufgaben- und Handlungsorientierung kommen in der Praxis der Sprachvermittlung weiterhin verbreitet traditionelle Verfahren zur Anwendung, was beispielsweise Lehrprogression, Niveaustufen, Fehlerkorrektur und Leistungsmessung betrifft. Mit der Weiterentwicklung der kognitiven Linguistik und weiterer kognitiv ausgerichteter Nachbardisziplinen beginnt sich nun aber auch in der Sprachvermittlung in vieler Hinsicht ein Paradigmenwechsel zu vollziehen. Die kognitionslinguistischen Grundlagen dieses Paradigmenwechsels und verschiedene Anwendungsmöglichkeiten für den Spracherwerb werden in diesem Band systematisiert und am Beispiel der Grammatikanimationen veranschaulicht. Der Band ist der erste in einer neuen Reihe, die von Online-Modulen für die Aus- und Weiterbildung begleitet wird.

Literacy has traditionally been associated with the linguistic and functional ability to read and write. Although literacy, as a fundamental issue in education, has received abundant attention in the last few decades, most publications to date have focused on monolingual classrooms. Language teacher educators have a responsibility to prepare teachers to be culturally responsive and flexible so they can adapt to the range of settings and variety of learners they will encounter in their careers while also bravely questioning the assumptions they are encountering about multilingual literacy development and instruction. The Handbook of Research on Cultivating Literacy in Diverse and Multilingual Classrooms is an essential scholarly publication that explores the multifaceted nature of literacy development across the lifespan in a range of multilingual contexts. Recognizing that literacy instruction in contemporary language classrooms serving diverse student populations must go beyond developing reading and writing abilities, this book sets out to explore a wide range of literacy dimensions. It offers unique perspectives through a critical reflection on issues related to power, ownership, identity, and the social construction of literacy in multilingual societies. As a resource for use in language teacher preparation programs globally, this book will provide a range of theoretical and practical perspectives while creating space for pre- and in-service teachers to grapple with the ideas in light of their respective contexts. The book will also provide valuable insights to instructional designers, curriculum developers, linguists, professionals, academicians, administrators, researchers, and students.

Grenzen ... los! John Benjamins Publishing

Religion within the Boundaries of Mere Reason is a key element of the system of philosophy which Kant introduced with his Critique of Pure Reason, and a work of major importance in the history of Western religious thought. It represents a great philosopher's attempt to spell out the form and content of a type of religion that would be grounded in moral reason and would meet the needs of ethical life. It includes sharply critical and boldly constructive discussions on topics not often treated by philosophers, including such traditional theological concepts as original sin and the salvation or 'justification' of a sinner, and the idea of the proper role of a church. This volume presents it and three short essays that illuminate it in new translations by Allen Wood and George di Giovanni, with an introduction by Robert Merrihew Adams that locates it in its historical and philosophical context.

Trade schools, universities, and programs for international students have begun to experiment with Content and Language Integrated Learning (CLIL) as a viable pedagogy for instruction, as the pedagogy of CLIL increasingly gains recognition as a practical form of language and content education in Europe and beyond, and its application in instructional settings becomes more diverse. Corresponding with CLIL's growth, this book focuses on foreign language use during peer interactions in a new CLIL setting. It particularly concentrates on how to conduct research when the focus is on learner interactions. The theoretical background, research methods, and research instruments are explained in a brief and understandable manner. This book is intended for those interested in CLIL and peer interactions and includes a framework and ideas for investigating new CLIL contexts in a practical manner allowing undergraduate and graduate students to conduct their own research in these settings.
