Thomas élève seul ses quatre enfants depuis que sa femme, Laure, une pianiste de renom, est hospitalisée. Il est déboussolé par l'avenir incertain. De son côté, Mathilde incarne la figure d'une mère célibataire épanouie. Cependant, lorsque ses jumelles adolescentes réclament la vérité sur leurs origines et se lancent à la recherche de leur père, leur univers bascule soudainement. Confrontés tous deux à l'inévitable, peuvent-ils résister à l'appel du changement et envisager une vie différente ? Dans cette tourmente, la présence aimante de leurs proches sera-t-elle suffisante pour guider Thomas et Mathilde vers la sérénité ? À PROPOS DE L'AUTRICE Cécile Méou, enseignante pendant près de vingt ans, décide de se consacrer pleinement à l'éducation de ses quatre enfants en mettant provisoirement de côté son activité. Ce choix, qui lui laisse du temps pour observer les gens autour d'elle, faire de belles rencontres et poursuivre la musique, lui permet également de redécouvrir les délices de la lecture et de l'écriture poétique et romanesque, un plaisir cultivé depuis son enfance. Son premier ouvrage, "Une étoile pour l'éternité", lui est apparu un matin, comme une évidence : « Il était là, nous dit-elle, caché dans les replis de ma conscience, prêt à éclore. »

prestigieuse et réputée des Cornouailles, est missionnée par le gouvernement anglais pour réaliser un travail de numérisation des dossiers classés « Secret défense » de la Seconde Guerre mondiale. Elle est chargée de former une équipe, en collaboration avec un homologue français, Louis Carchano, pour accomplir la tâche dans les temps impartis. Mais tout ne va pas se passer comme prévu.

Agenda des droits de l'enfant Max et Lili FeniXX

Caroline Archer sets out to provide adoptive and foster parents with an understanding of the complex range of difficulties with which their children may struggle as a result of their early experience of adversity. She presents strategies to help parents deal with their youngsters' troubling behaviour, in what seems to them a hostile world.

A Century of Artists Books Seuil

Published to accompany the 1994 exhibition at The Museum of Modern Art, New York, this book constitutes the most extensive survey of modern illustrated books to be offered in many years. Work by artists from Pierre Bonnard to Barbara Kruger and writers from Guillaume Apollinaire to Susan Sontag. An important reference for collectors and connoisseurs. Includes notable works by Marc Chagall, Henri Matisse, and Pablo Picasso.

Nazi Germany 1936. The Lebensborn program is going strong as German women are carefully selected by the Nazis and recruited to give birth to new representatives of the Aryan race. Inside one of these women is Max, a fetus waiting to be born and fulfill his destiny as the perfect Aryan. Max is taken away from his birth mother as soon as he enters the world. He will be raised under the leadership and ideologies of the Nazi Party. As he grows up without a mom, without any affection or tenderness, according to Nazi educational precepts, he soon becomes the mascot of the program. But things don't go according to plan. Originally published in French, Sarah Cohen-Scali's touching, illuminating, and heartbreaking book has been translated for an English-speaking audience. Marin loves the sandwiches his parents make for him—every day they're different and more delicious than the last. One morning, someone dares to steal his favorite sandwich: ham-cheddar-kale. Furious, Marin begins a fevered and famished investigation to unmask the thief. The days go by, the suspects multiply, and Marin's sandwiches continue to disappear. This droll, graphic caper is a funny school mystery exploring the high stakes of low blood sugar. The first in a series, the book's witty text and graphic illustrations make this funny school mystery perfect for early and advanced readers alike—and for anyone who's been the victim of lunchtime crime.

Le rêve a ce détail qu'il partage avec la souffrance ; l'intimité. C'est ici, à la croisée des chemins, que l'auteure relate cette expérience, pleine d'espérance et de périls. L'évocation d'une épreuve douloureuse sur laquelle se greffent, ici et là, les germes fébriles d'un bonheur retrouvé et fantasmé. Une multitude de thèmes universels sont ici traversés, où la science tente d'apaiser les maux d'un corps, mais aussi d'un esprit, aussi délicate soit la tâche. Les mots simples de l'auteure se substituent magistralement à l'austérité du sujet, comme autant de ponts permettant à chacun d'appréhender l'histoire à son rythme, de se l'approprier. Un récit intime dans lequel le lecteur affrontera peut-être les mêmes inquiétudes et les mêmes doutes que l'auteure elle-même...

Read Along or Enhanced eBook: Poop! Ewww! No, don't say "Ewww." Ask, "Whose poop is that?" This simple, and yes, charming book asks this question about seven examples of animal poop. By investigating visual clues, young readers can learn to identify the animal through its droppings. For instance, find a sample of poop with bits of bone and tufts of hair. Turn the page to learn it came from a fox! Kelsey Oseid's illustrations are both accurate and beautiful. Backmatter includes further information about the poop and what scientists can learn from an animal's droppings. From the Hardcover edition.

Né avec le siècle, Prévert a touché à tout : il a écrit des pièces de théâtre, des poèmes qui avec quelques notes de musique ont fait le tour du monde, des films qui sont des classiques. Cette biographie déroule le fil de sa vie en privilégiant ses oeuvres, inscrivant son parcours dans son temps, ses textes dans leur contexte.

When pregnant Rosie Carpe, her fatherless five-year-old son in tow, arrives in Guadeloupe looking for her elusive brother, Lazare, the world already seems a plenty confusing place. Could the man who comes to meet her, an elegant black man calling himself Lagrand, actually be her disheveled white brother? Are her parents, who abandoned her in Paris, rediscovering themselves in an outrageous second youth of outlandish affairs, or have they simply lost their minds? And does Rosie have a hope of slipping the sticky grasp of her former employer and seducer, who moonlights as a video pornographer? If it seems unlikely that the feckless Lazare, missing for five years as he followed his own twisted path, might help, or that carnivalesque Guadeloupe, where murder and mayhem are the natural outcomes of "business ventures," might be the place for Rosie to find peace, then Marie NDiaye may have a few surprises in store for her reader. Amid the blurring boundaries and shifting values, the indistinct realities and confusing certainties of Rosie Carpe, a love story unfolds, and all that is ambiguous and tenuous—in short, all of Rosie's world—is underpinned with a measure of tenderness.

What was his grandmother thinking when she bought Benjamin such a strange present: an empty pink suitcase! To his mother's horror, Benjamin is not only drawn to the suitcase—he absolutely loves it. What's more, as he grows older he shows no signs of wanting to give it up. Spanning the generations, The Pink Suitcase is a warm-hearted and amusing tale about being different and celebrating the individual.

Madeleine Masterson is deathly afraid of bugs, especially spiders. Theodore Bartholomew is petrified of dying. Lulu Punchalower is scared of confined spaces. Garrison Feldman is terrified of deep water. Which is why this may be the scariest summer of their lives. Worse than detention or summer school. Worse even than the dentist. The foursome must face their phobias head-on at the exclusive and elusive School of Fear. The school is unusual, to say the least. But 'terrifying' would be a more accurate description. The curriculum is simple: Conquer your fears in six weeks or find out just how frightening failing can be.

Award-winning author Susin Nielsen has written a laugh-out-loud and heartrending novel for fans of Robyn Schneider's Extraordinary Means and Cammie McGovern's Say What You Will. Beware: Life ahead. Sixteen-year-old Petula de Wilde is anything but wild. A former crafting fiend with a happy life, Petula shut herself off from the world after a family tragedy. She sees danger in all the ordinary things, like crossing the street, a bug bite, or a germ handshake. She knows: life is out to get you. The worst part of her week is her comically lame mandatory art therapy class with a small group of fellow misfits. Then a new boy, Jacob, appears at school and in her therapy group. He seems so normal and confident, though he has a prosthetic arm; and soon he teams up with Petula on a hilarious project, gradually inspiring her to let go of some of her fears. But as the two grow closer, a hidden truth behind why he's in the group threatens to derail them, unless Petula takes a huge risk. . .
