Laura E. Richards's "Pippin: A Wandering Flame" introduces readers to the captivating story of Pippin, a wandering flame with a unique journey of its own. The narrative follows the adventures of Pippin as it navigates various settings, encounters different characters, and experiences the world in a distinctive way. Set against the backdrop of Pippin's journey, the story unfolds with themes of exploration, curiosity, and the search for meaning. Through Pippin's interactions with the environment and the people it meets, readers are invited to explore the world from a different perspective. The novella delves into themes of self-discovery, connection, and the universal desire to find one's place in the world. As Pippin's journey unfolds, it embodies the qualities of curiosity and a sense of wonder that fuels its quest for understanding. "Pippin: A Wandering Flame" captures the essence of adventure and the joy of experiencing life's wonders from a unique viewpoint. Laura E. Richards's storytelling invites readers to join Pippin on its extraordinary journey, reflecting on their own quests for discovery and the beauty that can be found in unexpected places.

From the most trusted name in guns and ammunition comes this ultimate reference on bowhunting. The Shooter's Bible Guide to Bowhunting offers everything you need to know about the sport and its gear, from its origin as a means of survival to modern gear. Compound bows and crossbows have undergone an explosive rise in popularity in recent years, due in part, Dr. Todd A. Kuhn explains, to complex socioeconomic, environmental, and biological factors. As expansive tracts of land vanish, many hunters can no longer pursue game with high-powered rifles. That, plus vast improvements in archery gear, has hunters flocking to compound bows and crossbows as alternatives. In the Shooter's Bible Guide to Bowhunting Dr. Kuhn examines all things bowhunting and archery. Topics covered include:

Compound, recurve, and traditional bows
Arrows and broadheads
Sights and rests
Releases and triggers Quivers
Tree stands, blinds, decoys, and other popular gear
This exhaustive desk reference provides a never before seen look into the history and engineering of archery, theories and trends in game discipline, and, of course, an exhaustive catalog of archery equipment both new and traditional.

 This fully illustrated history of the iconic American fighter plane examines its development and combat experience through WWII and beyond. First flown in 1940, the Vought F4U Corsair was the fastest fighter in the world and the fastest US aircraft of any description. Powered by a huge 18-cylinder Pratt and Whitney Double Wasp engine, the first Corsairs were capable of speeds up to 417 miles per hour. This figure would rise to nearly 450mph in later versions. The F4U entered service with the US Navy in September 1942 and over time was extensively used by the US Marines, Royal Navy and Royal New Zealand Air Force. Famous squadrons that flew these planes—like VMF-214 'The Black Sheep' and VF-17 'Jolly Rogers'—maintained their superiority over the Japanese for the rest of the war. After the Second World War the Corsair was used with distinction by the French in Indo-China and again by the US Navy in Korea. Since then, Corsairs have remained a favorite among warbird enthusiasts the world over. This comprehensive book examines the engineering of the Corsairs alongside a detailed history of their development and usage in combat. Illustrated with scores of rare and previously unpublished photographs, Vought F4U Corsair is the perfect book for any fan of the 'bent wing bird'.

- There's no doubt Australia is in the grip of housing crisis, and from hotly contested think pieces and intergenerational mud-slinging, to embattled episodes of Q&A and the much-maligned smashed avocado, it seems everyone has an opinion on the topic • In No Place Like Home, award-winning journalist Peter Mares embarks on a personal journey of inquiry in an attempt to better comprehend and possibly find answers to this issue so engrained in the nation's consciousness (and newspaper headlines) • From an initial conversation with a homeless man living on the streets of Melbourne, to touring new display-home suites and braving the crowds at Saturday-morning rental viewings, Mares takes a firsthand look at the lived realities of those embroiled on the frontlines of Australia's housing crisis • Using personal storytelling, research, statistical data, case studies and interviews, Mares constructs a coherent snapshot of the crisis at hand, the policy settings that gave rise to it and the predicament's current outlook • Most importantly, No Place Like Home will cut through the noise to offer practical and nuanced solutions for this challenging issue. Accessible and timely, it will gain wide media attention and provoke national debate

Recently, the Army forecast that it would experience a 4.5-million-acre training land shortfall by 2013 and proposed to purchase additional land adjacent to certain existing training ranges. In response to a congressional request, GAO reviewed the Army's approach for acquiring training land. This report (1) evaluates the Army's approach to the acquisition of training land, (2) describes the Army's consideration of alternatives and assessment of the environmental and economic effects, and (3) analyzes the Army's effectiveness in communicating its approach for making decisions to pursue these acquisitions before the Office of the Secretary of Defense's (OSD) approval. GAO reviewed the Army strategic plan for training lands and other relevant documents, and focused on all five land acquisitions since 2002 at Fort Irwin, California; three training sites in Hawaii; and the proposed expansion of the Piñon Canyon Maneuver Site in Colorado. GAO recommends that (1) the Army develop and implement a process to update periodically its strategic plan for training ranges to reflect current needs and (2) OSD and the Army jointly review their strategies for communicating major land acquisitions and agree on a common practice that would address concerns about early disclosure and provide the Army and the other services some flexibility to engage the public. DOD generally agrees with the recommendations to view the full product, including and the Army jointly review their strategies for communicating major land acquisitions and agree on a common practice that would address concerns about early disclosure and provide the Army and the other services some flexibility to engage the public.

This volume provides an understanding of the factors involved in nuclear reprogramming, which is essential for the success of reprogramming. The book is aimed at reprogramming differentiated cells and germ line transmission of pluripotent stem cells and features chapters that deal with reprogramming-related issues such as analysis of mitochondrial DNA in reprogrammed cells and the isolation of reprogramming intermediates; alternative methods for nuclear transfer; the production of germ-line chimeras from embryonic stem cells and induced pluripotent stem cells; and neonatal care and management of somatic cell nuclear transfer derived offspring. Written in the highly successful Methods in Molecular Biology series format, chapters include introductions to their respective topics, lists of the necessary materials and reagents, step-by-step, readily reproducible laboratory protocols and tips on troubleshooting and avoiding known pitfalls.
