 In Schule und Unterricht gelten Lehrkräfte als diejenigen, die wissen, was zu tun ist, um Lernen gelingen zu lassen. Sie sind die Professionellen im Klassenzimmer. Was es genau bedeutet, als Religionslehrkraft professionell zu handeln, ist Thema des Buches von Eva-Maria Leven. Im Rahmen einer qualitativen Studie erforscht sie explorativ, wie das Professionswissen von Religionslehrkräften beschaffen ist und setzt sich dabei mit den aus den Bildungswissenschaften und anderen Fachdidaktiken bekannten Modellierungen auseinander. Die Arbeit will demnach auch einen Beitrag zum interdisziplinären Austausch leisten. Am Beispiel des "Umgangs mit (christologischen) Wahrheitsfragen" rekonstruiert sie außerdem, wie Religionslehrkräfte im Unterricht tatsächlich agieren und wie sie ihre Arbeit reflektieren. Sie zeigt folglich, wie fachspezifische Professionalität entlang der Dimensionen Wissen, Können und Reflexion empirisch fundiert modelliert werden kann.

Darüber spricht man doch nicht! Das gehört sich aber nicht! Das kannst du doch nicht machen! Wer kennt sie nicht, diese kleine Stimme im Hinterkopf, die uns immer wieder davon abhält, das zu tun, was wir eigentlich wollen. Weil sich das eben nicht gehört. Warum eigentlich nicht?, fragt sich Adrienne Friedlaender und beginnt fröhlich, die ungeschriebenen Regeln zu brechen, die uns von klein auf eingetrichtert werden. Den Heiratsantrag muss ER machen? Pustekuchen. Die Kollegin nach dem Gehalt fragen? Warum eigentlich nicht? Offen über Probleme mit dem wild gewordenen Teenager oder der Sexunlust sprechen? Gewiss doch. Auf humorvolle, ehrliche und persönliche Weise erzählt die Autorin von eigenen Regelbrüchen und regt an, selbst welche zu begehen. Denn: Wer die Regeln ab und zu bricht, geht gelassener und glücklicher durchs Leben.

Alfred Döblin (1878-1957) studied medicine in Berlin and specialized in the treatment of nervous diseases. Along with his experiences as a psychiatrist in the workers' quarter of Berlin, his writing was inspired by the work of Holderlin, Schopenhauer and Nietzsche and was first published in the literary magazine, Der Sturm. Associated with the Expressionist literary movement in Germany, he is now recognized as one of the most important modern European novelists. Berlin Alexanderplatz is one of the masterpieces of modern European literature and the first German novel to adopt the technique of James Joyce. It tells the story of Franz Biberkopf, who, on being released from prison, is confronted with the poverty, unemployment, crime and burgeoning Nazism of 1920s Germany. As Franz struggles to survive in this world, fate teases him with a little pleasure before cruelly turning on him. Foreword by Alexander Stephan

A murderous game. The killer makes the rules. Death hangs on the roll of the dice. In murder investigations, it pays to keep things simple: motive, method, opportunity. But the case in front of Detective Fabian Risk is a nightmare. A killer who strikes out of nowhere. No apparent motive. No consistent method. Victims are tortured, strangled, burned, dismembered - each grisly killing carried out with savage precision, as if following the rules of a hellish game. Fear and chaos have spread through the seaside town of Helsingborg. While Fabian Risk hunts the killer, his life is falling apart: a son on the run from the law; a daughter gravely injured; a colleague with dark secrets of his own. But there's no turning back now. The game of death is on, and Fabian Risk must play to win. After all, there are many ways to die... This explosive thriller from Scandinavia's most inventive storyteller concludes the epic events of Motive X. Reviews for Stefan Ahnhem:

'Atmospheric and complicated... with great cop characters and some imaginatively grisly perps' Sunday Times (star pick) 'More gripping than Jo Nesbo, blacker than Stieg Larsson and more bleakly human than Henning Mankell' Tony Parsons 'Epic in scale and ambition' Daily Mail 'An intense journey, with an intricate plot... Ahnhem has mastered atmosphere, pacing and intrigue' Crime Review 'Masterly plotting, grisly murders and chilling suspense: Stefan Ahnhem keeps the threads of this complex, two-country narrative pulled tense' Better Reading

In vier aufeinander aufbauenden Studien befasst sich Nils Ellebrecht mit der Organisation des Notfalls. Er verhandelt den Notfall als eine soziale Situation und erarbeitet ein Konzept für seine Erforschung. Der Autor identifiziert charakteristische Merkmale von Rettungsorganisationen und untersucht die Folgen organisierter Rettung. Auf Basis leitfadengestützter Interviews, teilnehmender Beobachtung, von Mitschnitten aus Übungen und quantitativer Studien arbeitet er die Unterschiede, Konflikte und Kooperationsformen verschiedener Notfallakteure - Notärztinnen, Rettungsdienste und Feuerwehren - heraus. Die Arbeit mündet in einer historisch-soziologischen Analyse der Triage, einem Verfahren, das dann zum Einsatz kommt, wenn Rettungsorganisationen an ihre Grenzen stoßen und entscheiden müssen, wem sie helfen - und wem nicht. Die Arbeit wurde mit dem Hanno-Peter-Preis der Deutschen Gesellschaft für Katastrophenmedizin e.V. ausgezeichnet.

The poetry of Dylan Thomas has long been heralded as amongst the greatest of the Modern period, and along with his play, Under Milk Wood, his books are amongst the best-loved works in the literary canon. This new selection of his poetry contains all of his best-loved verse - including 'I See the Boys of Summer', 'And Death Shall Have No Dominion', 'The Hand that Signed the Paper' and, of course, 'Do Not Go Gentle into that Good Night' - as well as some of his lesser-known lyrical pieces, and aims to show the great poet in a new light. '[Then] the greatest living poet in the English language.' (Observer) 'He is unique, for he distils an exquisite mysterious moving quality which defies analysis.' (Sunday Times)

Alone in the Dark Clipper Audio

In Sōtēria: Salvation in Early Christianity and Antiquity, an international team of scholars assembles to honour the distinguished academic career of New Testament scholar Cilliers Breytenbach. Colleagues and friends consider in which manner concepts of salvation were constructed in early Christianity and its Jewish and Graeco-Roman contexts. Studies on aspects of soteriology in the New Testament writings, such as in the narratives on Jesus' life and work, and theological interpretations of his life and death in the epistolary literature, are supplemented by studies on salvation in the Apostolic Fathers, Marcion, early Christian inscriptions and Antiochian theology. The volume starts with some exemplary studies on salvation in the Hebrew Bible, the Dead Sea scrolls, the Septuagint, and popular Graeco-Roman literature and philosophy. Furthermore, some contributions shed light on the ancient cultural background of early Christian soteriological concepts.

A #1 INTERNATIONAL BESTSELLER The newest crime novel sensation: In this shocking and suspenseful psychological thriller, a police detective must confront a monstrous evil that forces her to question how much suffering one person can inflict upon another before creating a monster. In a Stockholm city park, police discover the mutilated body of a young boy. Detective Superintendent Jeanette Kihlberg heads the investigation, battling an apathetic prosecutor and a bureaucratic police force unwilling to devote resources to solving the murder of a nameless immigrant child. But with the discovery of two more children's corpses, it becomes clear that a serial killer is at large. Jeanette turns to therapist Sofia Zetterlund for her expertise in psychopathic perpetrators and their lives become increasingly intertwined, professionally and personally. As they draw closer to the truth about the killings--working together but, ultimately, each on her own--we come to understand that these murders are only the most obvious evidence of a hellishly insidious evil woven deep into Swedish society. As viscerally dramatic as it is psychologically intense, The Crow Girl is a tale of almost unfathomably heinous deeds, and of the profound damage--and the equally profound need for revenge--left in their wake.

Quintus Smyrnaeus: Transforming Homer in Second Sophistic Epic Random House Books for Young Readers

A beautifully written, darkly funny coming-of-age story from an award-winning, bestselling German author making his American debut. Mike Klingenberg doesn't get why people think he's boring. Sure, he doesn't have many friends. (Okay, zero friends.) And everyone laughs at him when he reads his essays out loud in class. And he's never invited to parties - including the gorgeous Tatiana's party of the year. Andre Tschichatschow, aka Tschick (not even the teachers can pronounce his name), is new in school, and a whole different kind of unpopular. He always looks like he's just been in a fight, his clothes are tragic, and he never talks to anyone. But one day Tschick shows up at Mike's house out of the blue. Turns out he wasn't invited to Tatiana's party either, and he's ready to do something about it. Forget the popular kids: Together, Mike and Tschick are heading out on a road trip. No parents, no map, no destination. Will they get hopelessly lost in the middle of nowhere? Probably. Will meet some crazy people and get into serious trouble? Definitely. But will they ever be called boring again? Not a chance.

Lebensbestimmender Glaube kann nicht gelehrt oder vermittelt werden. Er muss sich im eigenen Lebenszusammenhang erschließen. Dennoch sind andere Menschen auf dem Weg der Glaubensbiographie von erheblicher Bedeutung. Religiöses Lernen hat entscheidend mit Personen zu tun. Lehrerinnen und Lehrer sind mehr und anderes als "Lernbegleiter". Durch sie versteht man, was Erfahrung mit der eigenen Erfahrung sein könnte. Sie zeigen auf, wie man Leben und Glauben deuten kann: Religiöses Lernen geschieht durch Zeigen und Verstehen. Die Skizzen dieses Bandes beschäftigen sich mit grundlegenden Themen wie dem Bösen in der Pädagogik, der Wahrheitsfrage angesichts von Pluralismus und Konfessionslosigkeit sowie der Problemorientierung und der Kreuzestheologie im Religionsunterricht. [Showing and Understanding. Sketches on Faith and Learning] Life-determining faith cannot be taught or conveyed. It has to evolve in the context of one's own life. Nevertheless, other persons are of significant importance on the journey of faith. Individuals are decisive for religious learning. Teachers are more than just "learning guides". They help to understand what experience could be. They point out how to interpret life and faith: religious learning is a process of showing and understanding. This book's sketches deal with fundamental issues such as the phenomenon of evil in pedagogics, with the question of truth in the face of pluralism and the state of non-belonging to any denomination, and with problem orientation and the theology of the cross in religious education.

The Killing Tide by Jean-Luc Bannalec is the fifth novel in the internationally bestselling Commissaire Dupin series. Deep sea fishers, dolphin researchers, smugglers, and an island shrouded in myth in the middle of the rough Atlantic ocean: Commissaire Dupin had sworn he would never again investigate on the ocean, but his fifth case takes him offshore, off the west coast of Brittany on a beautifully sunny day in June. He lands on the unique Île de Sein, populated by more rabbits than people, where the hairdresser arrives by boat and which was formerly inhabited by powerful witches and even the devil himself. In front of this impressive backdrop—between the islands of Molène, Ouessant, and the bay of Douarnenez—Dupin and his team follow a puzzling case that pushes them to their very limits.
