In this fifth edition of A Cognitive Psychology of Mass Communication, author Richard Jackson Harris continues his examination of how our experiences with media affect the way we acquire knowledge about the world, and how this knowledge influences our attitudes and behavior. Presenting theories from psychology and communication along with reviews of the corresponding research, this text covers a wide variety of media and media issues, ranging from the commonly discussed topics – sex, violence, advertising – to lesser-studied topics, such as values, sports, and entertainment education. The fifth and fully updated edition offers: highly accessible and engaging writing contemporary references to all types of media familiar to students substantial discussion of theories and research, including interpretations of original research studies a balanced approach to covering the breadth and depth of the subject discussion of work from both psychology and media disciplines. The text is appropriate for Media Effects, Media & Society, and Psychology of Mass Media coursework, as it examines the effects of mass media on human cognitions, attitudes, and behaviors through empirical social science research; teaches students how to examine and evaluate mediated messages; and includes mass communication research, theory and analysis.

This book convincingly argues that Quality of Life is the vital link between health promotion and rehabilitation. The contributors first review the conceptual basis for understanding and discussing quality of life in health promotion and education. They continue by addressing critical issues such as ethics, policy, quality assurance, and measurement - exploring applications of quality of life in the context of a wide range of current social issues and populations. Finally, they consider the implications for future research and practice.

The strategy is the result of a comprehensive two-year participatory process. It is based on the evidence of nutrition's significance in the early months and years of life, and of the crucial role that appropriate feeding practices play in achieving optimal health outcomes. The strategy is intended as a guide for action; it identifies interventions with a proven positive impact; it emphasizes providing mothers and families the support they need to carry out their crucial roles, and it explicitly defines the obligations and responsibilities in this regards of governments, international organizations, and other concerned parties.

information on everything from diapering to day care, from midwifery to hospital birthing rooms, from postpartum nutrition to infant development. Dr. Bill and Martha Sears draw from their vast experience both as medical professionals and as the parents of eight children to provide comprehensive information on virtually every aspect of infant care. Working for the first time with their sons Dr. Bob and Dr. Jim, both pediatric specialists in their own right, the Seares have produced a completely updated guide that is unrivaled in its scope and authority. The Baby Book focuses on the essential needs of babies -- eating, sleeping, development, health, and comfort -- as it addresses the questions of greatest concern to today's parents. The Baby Book presents a practical, contemporary approach to parenting that reflects the way we live today. The Sears acknowledge that there is no one way to parent a baby, and they offer the basic guidance and inspiration you need to develop the parenting style that best suits you and your child. The Baby Book is a rich and invaluable resource that will help you get the most out of parenting -- for your child, for yourself, and for your entire family. Book jacket.

 This review evaluates the nutrient adequacy of exclusive breastfeeding for term infants during the first 6 months of life.
Nutrition in Early Life
 SAGE Publications, Incorporated Abstract: Infant and child feeding represents an important application of nutrition science. Nutrition knowledge basic to meeting the nutrient needs of infancy and childhood is presented with emphasis on the many environmental factors which affect nutrition. Following an historical perspective of infant feeding, information is given on lactation, breastfeeding, and human milk. The relationship between nutritional quality of infant foods and child development is examined. The question of whether infants and children in developed countries are well nourished is addressed. Infant and child feeding practices, and nutrient requirements of pregnant women, lactating mothers, infants, and young children are described. Current issues are explored, including sodium intake, dental caries, obesity, iron nutriture, fluoride, taste preference, and the diet-heart hypothesis. Future trends, research, and development in infant nutrition are also discussed. (nzm). Becoming a Mother Penerbit NEM

At the 2013 Nutrition for Growth Summit in London, 96 signatories (governments, civil society organizations, donors, United Nations agencies, and businesses) agreed to support the creation of an annual report on global nutrition that would be authored by an independent expert group, in partnership with a large number of contributors. The first edition of this report, the Global Nutrition Report 2014, puts a spotlight on worldwide progress by the 193 member countries of the United Nations in improving their nutrition status, identifies bottlenecks to change, highlights opportunities for action, and contributes to strengthened nutrition accountability on country and global levels.

Perspectives in

Nutrition Humana Press The Nutrition and Health series of books have, as an overriding mission, to provide health professionals with texts that are considered essential because each includes: 1) a synthesis of the state of the science,

2) timely, in-depth reviews by the leading researchers in their respective fields, 3) extensive, up-to-date fully annotated reference lists, 4) a detailed index, 5) relevant tables and figures, 6) identification of paradigm shifts and the consequences, 7) virtually no overlap of information between chapters, but targeted, inter-chapter referrals, 8) suggestions of areas for future research and 9) balanced, data driven answers to patient /health professionals questions which are based upon the totality of evidence rather than the findings of any single study. The series volumes are not the outcome of a symposium. Rather, each editor has the potential to examine a chosen area with a broad perspective, both in subject matter as well as in the choice of chapter authors. The international perspective, especially with regard to public health initiatives, is emphasized where appropriate. The editors, whose trainings are both research and practice oriented, have the opportunity to develop a primary objective for their book; define the scope and focus, and then invite the leading authorities from around the world to be part of their initiative. The authors are encouraged to provide an overview of the field, discuss their own research and relate the research findings to potential human health consequences.

Yelly Herien, S.Kep.,
M.Kep Ines Wafiqah
Ukuran : 14,5 x 21 cm
Tebal : 72 Halaman ISBN : 978-623-497-759-2
SINOPSIS Pemberian ASI
eksklusif pada bayi telah dibuktikan dapat mengurangi atau menurunkan angka kesakitan serta kematian pada ibu dan anak.
Pemberian ASI eksklusif pada bayi usia kurang dari enam bulan dapat menurunkan risiko bayi

untuk mengalami
stunting. Anak yang mendapatkan ASI
eksklusif cenderung memiliki kemampuan kognitif yang lebih baik
dan berisiko lebih rendah
overweight/obesitas dan penyakit tidak menular pada saat dewasa. Selain itu, memberikan ASI eksklusif juga bermanfaat untuk ibu karena cenderung berisiko rendah untuk mengalami kanker payudara dan rahim. Breastfeeding self-efficacy adalah keyakinan diri atau kepercayaan diri yang dimiliki seorang ibu atas kemampuannya untuk menyusui bayinya. Breastfeeding self-efficacy menjadi penanda apakah ibu memutuskan untuk menyusui atau tidak, seberapa besar upaya yang dilakukan untuk menyusui, apakah ibu mempunyai pola pikir yang membangun atau merusak, serta bagaimana ibu merespon berbagai masalah dan kesulitan menyusui secara emosional.

Breastfeeding self-efficacy yang baik akan menunjukkan bahwa ibu memiliki keyakinan dalam memberikan nutrisi terbaik dengan pemberian ASI eksklusif kepada bayinya.
