Do you have Silly Salad in your back pocket? Silly Salad is a collection of skits, games and ice-breakers that have all been tested on a live audience and have not just proven to be educational, but down right hilarious. Commercials ranging from a specialized pillow that provides comfort to the chafed backside of indecisive individuals (The Fence-Sitters Fanny-Pad) to a pair of glasses that hinder lustful thoughts (The Sin-no-more Spectacles), will provide easy and comical introductions to deeper discussions. Skits involving pirates who discuss hope while in a hopeless situation (Clive the Hopeful Pirate), and a television talk show host who is quick to deliver a spanking (Morals Over Coffee with Dr. Meredith Stein), are just a few of the many diverse and colorful characters you will also meet. Each commercial and skit is complete with a list of corresponding scripture verses as well as a prop list and character analysis to aid in the production and discussion of the material. If you have Silly Salad in your back pocket, you'll have what it takes to entertain and teach any tough crowd of teens. No youth leader should be without it.

An Inspirational Urban Drama. "Why are you like this?" the counselor asked. I did not reply. Isn't she the professional? Isn't she the one who is supposed to diagnose me? With a straight face, I gawked at her thinking, 'She's just like the rest of them.' What choice did I have? I was cursed before I was birthed. Then my parents were killed right in front of me. I knew him. He was family! A family member who did not care to think about what would happen to me once the system got hold of me. Sadly, nobody cares about anyone. In this world, you gotta make it on your own. Some people blame God for their misfortune, but I never met Him, don't know anything about Him, so I blame my mom. My name is Winter Santiago. To most, I am the big-lip, dark-skinned girl who will never be anything in life. No man will ever love me because I ain't nothing to love. I'm dumb and evil, just like my momma was, and I will be dead before my twenty-first birthday. Those are just some of the curses spoken over me. Did I prove them wrong? Yeah, but I still did not escape the sins that covered me when I was forced to enter this dark world. This story isn't only about me; we all crossed paths for one reason or another. In the end, you tell me if there is a God. And if so, does He know me? Does He know us and what's the reason we were chosen to face this life?

Twenty years ago, the Gebusi of the lowland Papua New Guinea rainforest had one of the highest homicide rates in the world. Bruce M. Knauff found then that the killings stemmed from violent scapegoating of suspected sorcerers. But by the time he returned in 1998, homicide rates had plummeted, and Gebusi had largely disavowed vengeance against sorcerers in favor of modern schools, discos, markets, and Christianity. In this book, Knauff explores the Gebusi's encounter with modern institutions and highlights what their experience tells us more generally about the interaction between local peoples and global forces. As desire for material goods grew among Gebusi, Knauff shows that they became more accepting of and subordinated by Christian churches, community schools, and government officials in their attempt to benefit from them—a process Knauff terms "recessive agency." But the Gebusi also respond actively to modernity, creating new forms of feasting, performance, and music that meld traditional practices with Western ones, all of which Knauff documents in this fascinating study.

It is the story of one young man's struggle for faith in a culture of corruption, his descent into despair and violence and his redemption within the tenets of a secret society that was created in the dungeons of "Castel St Angelo" (Rome, Italy) seven hundred years ago. It is the story of a serial killer, of a tortured psycho-killer and of a striver after truth who is inducted into an ancient order to become one of the legendary Mortal Archangels. A Catholic parish in present-day California is plagued by a serial killer who disguises himself as the Pope and slays pedophile priests. Is he a homicidal maniac or is he actually fulfilling the Ascension Protocols of an ancient organization of the faithful? The answer lies in Gill Stillwell's story, the San Simone parish file clerk who dons the Papal garb and rubber mask and rains vengeance down on the corrupt clergy. It is a story that is also told through the violent and parallel struggle of a young boy in 1400 Rome who began the ancient Order of Octavius to battle corruption. These two stories collide in present-day San Simone with the arrival of the mysterious Father Argus, an envoy from the Vatican. But is Father Argus trying to stop Gil or recruit him? The ultimate answer is only revealed in the aftermath of the Pope's final bloody telekinetic assault, a supernatural blood bath that leaves a trail of guilty bodies in its wake.

Justin Fatica, a dynamic twenty-nine-year-old, is spreading the Catholic faith with an intense, in-your-face approach that eclipses that of even the most passionate preachers of any denomination. The subject of a recent HBO documentary, Fatica is known for his electric presence in front of groups large and small, showing an emotional range from joy to anger, calmness to fervent pleas—all meant to inspire his audience to break free from whatever burdens they may have. In an era where Catholic-church attendance is waning, the success of Justin's exploding Hard as Nails ministries is a welcome, if sometimes controversial, means of reaching the spiritually hungry. Fatica offers a message of hope for all ages, and especially for the growing number of youth who feel displaced and lost. While some are just getting used to Justin Fatica's style, there is little doubt that this dynamic, charismatic preacher will continue to draw attention for his radical and passionate ways of spreading the gospel.

Have you ever asked yourself what changed when you were "born again?" You look in the mirror and see the same reflection - your body hasn't changed. You find yourself acting the same and yielding to those same old temptations - that didn't seem to change either. So you wonder, Has anything really changed? The correct answer to that question is foundational for receiving from God. If you lack this basic understanding, you'll forever ask yourself doubt-filled questions like: "How could God love somebody like me?" and "How can I possibly expect to receive anything from the Lord? I don't deserve it, I'm not good enough!" Spirit, Soul, and Body will help you eliminate those and other doubt-filled questions that destroy your faith. If you have trouble receiving from God, this is a must-read!

Excerpt from The Sin of Ahab: A Drama in One Act Can religious drama be a means of bringing religion and high idealism into world affairs at the present time of unrest? The Drama League of America asked this question at the close of the World War when great interest was evidenced in spiritual things, realizing the power of the dramatic instinct, the appeal of biblical truths and the wealth of dramatic material contained in the Bible. A religious drama committee was called by the league to discuss the subject in the broadest use of the term, the aim being to use drama in teaching Bible truths and plays dealing with ethical material. Investigation revealed the lack of good religious plays. To arouse interest in the subject and to secure suitable material the league held a religious drama prize competition. The result was satisfactory - valuable material was gained. Selected plays from this competition are to appear in a Drama League Series, "The Sin of Ahab," the title of this volume being one of the series. Churches and church boards adopted the league's idea of utilizing drama in church work - or reviving drama which had its origin in the church - as the plan afforded wonderful opportunity to use the young life of the church. "The Sin of Ahab" is a biblical drama in one act. The characters who take speaking parts are Ahab king of Israel, Jezebel his wife, Jonas a boy of seventeen, Obadiah the head of Ahab's household, Naboth a native of Jezreel and Elijah the prophet. The scene is laid in Samaria. The play throughout has biblical authority except in making Jonas the son of the widow. There is a tradition that Jonas was the boy who was raised from the dead by Elijah. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. The works in #! engage with this tradition of more than 50 years and with constrained and conceptual writing. The book's source code is also offered as free software.
