 Gösta Berling's Saga is the debut novel of Swedish author Selma Lagerlöf, published in 1891. It was made into a 1924 silent film directed by Mauritz Stiller starring Greta Garbo, Lars Hanson and Gerda Lundquist. A 1925 opera I cavalieri di Ekebù by Riccardo Zandonai was also based on it.
Saga of Gosta Berling Legare Street Press
 The first new English translation in more than one hundred years of the Swedish Gone with the Wind A Penguin Classic In 1909, Selma Lagerlöf became the first woman to win the Nobel Prize in Literature. The Saga of Gösta Berling is her first and best-loved novel—and the basis for the 1924 silent film of the same name that launched Greta Garbo into stardom. A defrocked minister, Gösta Berling finds a home at Ekeby, an ironworks estate that also houses and assortment of eccentric veterans of the Napoleonic Wars. His defiant and poetic spirit proves magnetic to a string of women, who fall under his spell in this sweeping historical epic set against the backdrop of the magnificent wintry beauty of rural Sweden. For more than seventy years, Penguin has been the leading publisher of classic literature in the English-speaking world. With more than 1,800 titles, Penguin Classics represents a global bookshelf of the best works throughout history and across genres and disciplines. Readers trust the series to provide authoritative texts enhanced by introductions and notes by distinguished scholars and contemporary authors, as well as up-to-date translations by award-winning translators.

 Excerpt from The Story of Gösta Berling "The Story of Gösta Berling" was published in Sweden in 1894 and immediately brought its author into prominence. The tales are founded on actual occurrences and depict the life in the province of Varmland at the beginning of this century. Varmland is a lonely tract in the southern part of Sweden, and has retained many of its old customs, while mining is the principal industry of its sparse population. It consists of great stretches of forest, sloping down to long, narrow lakes, connected by rivers. Miss Lagerlöf has grown up in the midst of the wild legends of her country, and, deeply imbued with their spirit, interprets them with a living force all her own. Her efforts have been materially encouraged by the Crown Prince of Sweden, and there is every reason to expect that her genius has not reached its fullest development. Gösta Berling's Saga (Swedish: Gösta Berlings saga) is the debut novel of Swedish author Selma Lagerlöf, published in 1891. The hero, Gösta Berling, is a deposed minister, who has been saved by the Mistress of Ekeby from freezing to death and thereupon becomes one of her pensioners in the manor at Ekeby. As the pensioners finally get power in their own hands, they manage the property as they themselves see fit, and their lives are filled with many wild adventures. Gösta Berling is the leading spirit, the poet, the charming personality among a band of revelers.

In questo libro l'autore si propone di fornire un panorama quanto più esauriente possibile delle Opere che hanno riempito i teatri nel Novecento, soprattutto di quelle che, pur costituendone la maggioranza, non sono state più riprese dopo la morte dei loro autori. Protagonista di questo saggio è l'Opera, non tanto il singolo compositore; di essa si fornisce al lettore una guida all'ascolto in cui, oltre ad un'analisi della parte musicale, vengono delineate la sua genesi, la sua ricezione - attraverso recensioni della prima rappresentazione - e la sua fortuna con le riprese moderne. La trattazione è completata dagli indici dei nomi e delle Opere - inseriti al fine di facilitarne la consultazione - nonché da una bibliografia essenziale, stimolo per ulteriori approfondimenti.

Not illustrated. 1918 edition. Excerpt: ... DEGREES Margarita falsing THE Major's wife returned to the Lofsjo district a few days before Christmas, but it was not till Christmas Eve she came to Ekeby. She had been ill during all the journey. She had inflammation of the lungs and high fever, still no one had ever seen her happier or heard more kindly words from her lips. The daughter of the Broby parson, who had been staying with her since October at the foundry at Alfdal, sat by her side in the sledge and would willingly have hastened the journey, but she could not prevent the old lady from stopping the horses and calling up each passer-by to ask for news. "How is it with you here in Lofsjo?" she asked. "All goes well with us," was the answer. "Better times are coming. The crazy parson at Ekeby and his wife are helping us."; "A good time has come," said another. "Sintram is gone. The Ekeby cavaliers work; the Broby parson's money was found in the steeple of Bro church. There was enough to raise again the glory and honor of Ekeby and to supply bread to the hungry." "Our old Rector has awakened to new life and strength," said a third. "Every Sunday he tells us about the coming of God's kingdom. Who would sin any more? The millennium approaches." The Major's wife drove on, asking all she met: "How is it with you? Are you in any want?" And the fever and the sharp pain in her breast were lulled when they answered, "There are two good and rich women here: Marianne Sinclair and Anna Stjarnhok. They help Gosta Berling to go from house to house and see that no one starves. And no more grain is wasted in the gin-stills now." It seemed almost as if the Major's wife sat in her sledge and held a long thanksgiving service. She had come to a holy land. She saw old, wrinkled faces light up when they...

This volume presents the letters (approximately 600) that Scipio Slataper wrote between late 1909 and December 1915 to his "three friends" from Trieste, Anna Pulitzer, Gigetta (Luisa) Carniel, and Elody Oblath. These letters bring to light complex existential and intellectual storylines: of friendship, love, and pain, of the search of the purpose of life, cultural commitment, and artistic creation.
